Dear Dockets Management Branch Personnel,

I am writing in regard to the labeling of irradiated foods. Irradiated foods must be clearly marked. There must be no misleading labels.

Requirements for disclosure should not expire any time in the future.

I believe that people should know what they are eating. If people want to use irradiated food, that's fine. But they must know what it is.

It is basically unfair to take away our choice of what we eat.

Sincerely,

Shiela Cockshott
